

Ph.D. student Natalie Smith answers our questions for #EarthDay2021

Ph.D. student Natalie Smith answers questions about her aerosol research.

Friday, April 30, 2021

UCI Physical Sciences Communications

Smith stands in her lab at UCI, where she investigates how the physical properties of aerosols affects certain atmospheric properties.

Picture Credit:

Natalie Smith

Natalie Smith, a Ph.D. student in the UCI Department of Chemistry, where she works with Professor Sergey Nizkorodov, answers our questions about her aerosol research.

News Briefs

Chemistry

Climate Change

The Future of Energy and the Environment

View PDF