Irvine, Calif., June 10, 2024 —More than 8,200 students and their families will attend University of California, Irvine commencement ceremonies between Friday, June 14, and Monday, June 17, in the campus's Bren Events Center.

Overall, UC Irvine will grant 11,034 degrees this academic year – 9,336 undergraduate, 1,146 master's and 552 doctoral degrees. And in a testament to the university's dedication to access and affordability, 49 percent of those receiving bachelor's degrees are first-generation college students. This large percentage of traditionally underserved students is one reason why UC Irvine has twice earned the No. 1 spot in a New York Times ranking of universities “doing the most for the American dream.”

“This graduating class highlights how well UC Irvine is serving the people of our state by offering a world-class education to the best and brightest students, regardless of their financial circumstances, and acting as a powerful engine of upward economic mobility,” said Chancellor Howard Gillman.

Graduates have benefitted from the high value of a UC Irvine education. Here is a list of campus accomplishments:

- Ranked among the nation's top 10 public universities for the ninth year in a row and among the top 12 for social mobility by U.S. News & World Report
- Included in the top 10 for best value by Princeton Review
- Earned a five-star rating from Money in its 2023-24 Best Colleges in America list

And in the 2019 Wall Street Journal/Times Higher Education rankings of the country's universities, UC Irvine placed first for offering an inclusive, supportive learning environment.

In addition, the graduation data validates UCI's continued status as a Hispanic-serving institution, a federal designation awarded to universities where at least 25 percent of undergraduates identify as Latino and at least half of all students get financial aid. This year, UCI will grant bachelor's degrees to 2,227 Latinos, a number that has steadily increased for the past decade.

A schedule of graduation events, including cultural celebrations, is available on the UC Irvine commencement website. Degrees will be conferred at 12 ceremonies over four days. Overall, for the 2023-24 academic year, the breakdown is:

- Bachelor's degrees: 9,336
- Master's degrees: 1,146
- Ph.D.s: 280
- Law degrees: 163 (conferred May 10)
- Medical degrees: 109 (conferred May 18)
- Community college transfer students earning bachelor's degrees: 2,904
- Federal Pell Grant recipients earning bachelor's degrees: 3,736
